Why Greater Richmond?

Greater Richmond, Virginia, has a central place in America's history. It was here that the nation's founding fathers were inspired to begin the creation of our country. We're one of America's oldest cities yet we're tops in attracting millennial and Gen Z talent thanks in large part to our robust higher education system and quality of place. Companies from across the globe are attracted to Greater Richmond, much like the 12 Fortune 1000 businesses that are headquartered here. And there are many businesses with a major presence or divisional headquarters.

Here are a few reasons companies and talent choose Greater Richmond:

Strategic mid-Atlantic location along the East Coast. Greater Richmond, Virginia, is ideal for companies looking for strong infrastructure. The region's infrastructure includes:

- Equidistant to Maine and Miami, providing direct access to I-95, I-64 and I-85,
- The Richmond Marine Terminal connects to The Port of Virginia, one of the nation's largest seaports via the James River,
- Richmond International Airport with 37 direct routes and was named one of the most efficient airports in North America, and
- Extensive rail lines offer the only place in the U.S. where three Class I railroads cross above ground at the same location.

Simply put, it's easy to move goods and people to, through and within Greater Richmond. Nearly 45 percent of the nation's population can be accessed within a one-day delivery. And by living here, you're less than two hours from the Atlantic beaches, the Blue Ridge Mountains and our nation's capital -- providing a vast selection of day trip options.

Top spot for attracting highly educated talent. Greater Richmond's existing workforce consists of more than 718,000 individuals, 42 percent of which hold at least a bachelor's degree (in comparison to the national average of 33.5 percent). Within 150 miles of the region, there are more than 1.7 million higher education students, meaning that companies can recruit any level of required skill for years to come. Local colleges often partner with companies to address talent needs and custom training solutions with the Community College Workforce Alliance and the Virginia Center for Advanced Pharmaceutical Manufacturing.

Northernmost right-to-work state in the mid-Atlantic with low cost of living, low levels of unionization and a stable business environment. Eight Fortune 500 companies are headquartered here and household brands operate major divisions in Greater Richmond. These companies are drawn to Virginia as it ranks #4 Top State for Business by CNBC (2025). Richmond is less than two hours from Washington, D.C., by car or train, yet there is a major cost of living difference (Richmond is 42 percent less expensive), not to mention it's easier to get around here (Richmond's average commute is a short 25.6 minutes). It's no wonder why so many international companies (200+ from 30 countries) find Greater Richmond an easy market to enter the U.S.

Capital city ripe with fine arts and culture, best street art in the world and top foodie accolades. As the capital of Virginia, Richmond is home to:

- World-class museums like the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts (one of the largest and most comprehensive museums in the country) and the Virginia Commonwealth University's Institute for Contemporary Art,
- The Edgar Allan Poe Museum (the oldest in the country),
- The Richmond Symphony (one of the nation's leading orchestras), and
- The Richmond Ballet.

Greater Richmond is a top foodie city according to Southern Living Magazine and is home to 10+ James Beard nominees. Greater Richmond is also home to a burgeoning beverage scene with 40+ local craft breweries, distilleries and cideries.

Living an active, healthy lifestyle is easy in Greater Richmond. We don't just sit back and watch sports here -- we get in the game. Greater Richmond has been named among the nation's healthiest cities, as one of the best running cities in the U.S. and a top city for cycling. The region offers more than 14,000 acres of local and state parks and popular special events like the Richmond Marathon and the Monument Avenue 10K, the nation's 4th largest and top-rated as the most fun to participate in. At the center of much of Richmond's active lifestyle is the James River with kayaking, canoeing and the only class IV (not for the faint of heart!) rapids in an urban center in the country.

Story Ideas

- A soft landing spot for foreign direct investment. International companies are finding success in Greater Richmond, Virginia, causing the region to have been named among the “Top 25 American Cities for FDI Strategy” by fDi Magazine along with top rankings for economic potential and human capital and lifestyle. Recent international company investments include the LEGO Group, Topsoe and Sapporo-Stone joining the likes of Allianz Partners and Sabra Dipping Company, which operates the largest hummus production facility in the world. Further strengthening the region’s global appeal, Henrico County’s Global Business Gateway program provides international firms with turnkey office space and wraparound business services to help them establish and scale a U.S. presence. The program offers a true soft landing experience, guiding companies through market entry, regulatory navigation and local connections within Greater Richmond.
- Attracting young, diverse and educated residents to our workforce. The Richmond, Virginia, region gains an average of 182 net new residents each week and the average age of the population in the Richmond MSA is 38.7. According to U.S. Census Bureau data for 2020 through 2025, the Richmond MSA saw the highest population growth in Virginia and the #15 highest population growth nationwide. The region is a top spot for attracting Millennial and Gen Z workers, ranking as one of the best cities for Gen Z to live in (Living Cozy). Residents choose to work at places like CoStar Group’s Global Research Headquarters, AvePoint and CarMax where they can bike and walk to work in a growing downtown. Nearly 55 percent of the Richmond MSA’s population falls between the prime working ages of 25 and 54 years old. Greater Richmond’s workforce has more than 732,000 individuals who are more educated than the national average. More than 42 percent of Greater Richmond’s population holds a bachelor’s degree or higher compared to the U.S. average of just 36.6 percent. Greater Richmond is more diverse than the U.S. average as the Richmond MSA’s population is 43.2 percent non-white compared to the U.S. average of 36.6 percent.

- Investments add strategic value. Companies continue to invest in corporate office spaces throughout Greater Richmond. For example, CoStar Group built a $460 million corporate campus along the James River in downtown Richmond. The campus will house 2,000 new employees in a state-of-the-art facility with amenities like green space, retail and more. Investments toward crucial infrastructure like data centers are also on the rise as new tech parks are planned throughout Hanover and Henrico counties. Residents benefit from infrastructure investments as well with several new community plans in the works. The Richmond Amphitheater, located along the James River, also provides new opportunities for live music. The mixed-use Diamond District will feature a brand-new AA baseball stadium as well as office space and housing. City Center will allow for more corporate users and The Lake will offer new housing opportunities as well as Richmond's only surf park.
- U.S. government awards Greater Richmond funding for Life Sciences and designates the region as a national Tech Hub. The Richmond-Petersburg collaborative effort was awarded approximately $52.9 million as a winner of the U.S. Department of Commerce Economic Development Administration's Build Back Better Regional Challenge. The collaboration known as the Alliance for Building Better Medicine will reshore affordable pharmaceutical manufacturing in the U.S., forging the region as a hub for Life Sciences with low-cost wet lab space, a diverse workforce with partnerships at Virginia Commonwealth University and Virginia State University among others. Greater Richmond is designated one of 31 "Tech Hubs" across America. The designation opens the door to additional funding opportunities. Since receiving it, the Commonwealth has attracted $12.5 billion in biopharma investment from three major industry leaders: Merck & Co., AstraZeneca and Eli Lilly. These companies have committed not only to building pharmaceutical manufacturing facilities in Central Virginia but also to invest $120 million to expand and develop a new workforce training program in biomanufacturing.
- Growing to meet industrial capacity. Industrial development is at an all-time high in Greater Richmond, Virginia. According to data from CoStar, more than 8% of industrial development is under construction as of February 2026 compared to the national average of less than 2% indicating Greater Richmond is growing at a faster rate than competing areas. Developers are flocking to the region thanks to Greater Richmond's advantages. For example, electric rates and building costs are 30 percent and 13 percent below the national average, respectively.
- Home to more company headquarters per capita than competitors. Greater Richmond, Virginia, is the headquarters location to 7 Fortune 500 companies (Performance Food Group, CarMax, Altria Group, Dominion Energy, Markel, Owens & Minor/Accendra Health, ARKO), 5 Fortune 1000 companies (Brink's, Everforth (formerly ASGN), NewMarket, Universal, Genworth Financial) and major divisional headquarters (McKesson Medical-Surgical, CoStar Group, Allianz Worldwide Partners) or major operations (Capital One).

- Higher education bolsters the region's talent. Virginia Commonwealth University (VCU), ranked a top 50 "Largest Public Colleges in the U.S. for Research" by the National Science Foundation, was awarded a record-breaking $568+ million of total sponsored research funding, a 71 percent increase over the past five fiscal years. This includes VCU's $104 million gift to support liver research, the largest publicly shared gift to support liver research in the U.S. and the largest gift in VCU's history. Greater Richmond is also home to the University of Richmond (UR), ranked the #25 "Best U.S. Liberal Arts Colleges" by U.S. News & World Report. In addition to nearby universities like Virginia Tech and the University of Virginia, VCU and UR are graduating top-tier talent in various skills.
- The world's fastest internet travels through Greater Richmond. The number of data centers in Greater Richmond is thanks to the region's location on major internet national and international channels, electrical affordability and skilled tech talent. Business Facilities Magazine ranked Greater Richmond among the top 10 "Best Metros for Tech Talent" for four consecutive years. Not only is the region's tech talent well-skilled and educated, but it is also affordable with average wages below the U.S. average. Organizations in Greater Richmond work to prepare local talent with new skills like artificial intelligence (AI). In fact, the region is a hotspot for AI job postings. Regional partners like Dominion Energy are prepared to provide reliable and affordable energy with rates 30 percent below the U.S. average. Greater Richmond is also the #1 "Most Climate-resilient U.S. City" according to USA Today, meaning the region offers low risk for natural disasters. Greater Richmond's stable environment is a prime location for data centers requiring uninterrupted service.

- Increasing corporate social responsibility efforts. Greater Richmond, Virginia, is home to a diverse collection of businesses and organizations with real commitments to increasing their corporate social responsibility (CSR) efforts. The region's CSR commitments helped attract investments like the LEGO Group's $1 billion, carbon neutral manufacturing facility, CoStar Group's $460 million LEED-platinum certified corporate campus and Plenty Unlimited's $300 million indoor vertical farming campus – the world's largest. Plus, Cascades manufactures recycled packaging products and Meta operates a ~2.5 million square foot data center that is carbon neutral thanks to partnerships with Dominion Energy, which also carries rigorous CSR goals. Overall, the Richmond MSA has 400+ LEED Certified buildings with several developments planning mass timber construction.
- A workforce engine powering the future in Greater Richmond
Greater Richmond is accelerating its talent pipeline through three major initiatives that strengthen training, education and employer readiness:
  - VEDP's Talent Accelerator Program: Virginia's nationally recognized Talent Accelerator Program provides customized workforce training for companies expanding or locating in the Commonwealth. The program by the Virginia Economic Development Partnership (VEDP) is one of the state's most effective talent development efforts and supports employers by preparing workers with skills aligned to immediate hiring needs.
  - Statewide Paid Internship Program: Virginia is strengthening experiential learning through expanded paid internship programs designed to connect students with employers. These initiatives help attract future talent and build stronger pipelines from education to employment across the region.
  - Pharmaceutical Manufacturing Training: Global pharmaceutical leaders AstraZeneca, Eli Lilly & Co. and Merck & Co. have invested a combined $120 million to establish the Virginia Center for Advanced Pharmaceutical Manufacturing. The new center functions as an industry-driven talent hub offering stackable credentials, hands-on training and pathways from technician roles to advanced degrees. It will prepare 2,000 to 2,500 Virginians each year for high-skill biomanufacturing careers across the Richmond-Petersburg-Charlottesville corridor.

These landmark initiatives build on the Commonwealth's broader reputation of stimulating training and creating new success pathways from technician roles to advanced degrees.

FAQs

What is the purpose of the Greater Richmond Partnership?

The short answer is “jobs, investment (new tax base) and regional cooperation.” The long answer is in the mission statement: “To aggressively generate economic opportunities that create quality jobs for residents in the region and increase the tax base for needed community services.”

What are GRP’s main functions?

GRP has four main functions:

1. Advancing business recruitment and cluster development
2. Amplifying awareness and shaping perception of the region
3. Delivering world-class research and market intelligence
4. Elevating regional competitiveness

What types of companies does GRP work to attract?

GRP works to attract companies across four overall industry sectors:

1. Advanced Manufacturing
2. Corporate Services
3. Information Technology
4. Life Sciences

GRP is also leaning into emerging industries such as energy and aviation/defense, while continuing to support economic drivers in Transportation and Logistics.

When and why was GRP formed?

To better align resources and elevate the region, the business community joined the public sector as a 50-50 partner to form the Greater Richmond Partnership in 1994. GRP markets Greater Richmond’s four jurisdictions (City of Richmond and counties of Chesterfield, Hanover and Henrico) as a whole. The same four governments previously formed the Metropolitan Economic Development Council for economic development collaboration in 1978.

How is GRP funded?

GRP is funded by our four public partners as well as private sector businesses equally, providing balance and oversight of regional economic development efforts.

What is GRP's board makeup?

Half of the board's 16 members are selected from the private sector (typically top executives of major corporations that invest in GRP) and half from the public sector (usually top elected city or county administrators or officials from each jurisdiction).

What is the size of GRP's staff?

GRP has 12 full-time team members.

What have been the results since GRP's formation?

From its founding in July 1994 through February 2026, GRP assisted nearly 590 new and expanding companies that invested roughly $15.4 billion and created more than 66,500 jobs in Greater Richmond. This does not consider the economic impact of associated ongoing benefits of an increased tax base, enhanced individual incomes and job opportunities, or new retail and commercial opportunities for the region's businesses.

How does GRP compare to other regional programs around the country?

The media, consultants and researchers consistently recognize GRP as one of the leading, most successful programs in the United States. Site Selection Magazine, an economic development publication, has rated GRP as one of the top economic development groups in the United States nine times.

Iron Mountain recently acquired a 66-acre site in Henrico with plans for a major data center campus. “We believe that the Commonwealth of Virginia and specifically Henrico County is the right place for us to achieve these goals, which support our commitment to investing in high-growth data center markets to drive our expansion strategy,” said Mark Kidd, EVP and GM, Asset Lifecycle Management and Data Centers.
